The war in Yemen has been raging for years, leaving countless lives shattered and the country in ruins. This collection of poems provides a deeply personal and moving glimpse into the devastating effects of the conflict, offering a platform for the voices of those who have been directly impacted.

Through these poignant verses, we witness the raw emotions of those who have lost loved ones, been forced to flee their homes, and endured unimaginable hardships. The poems capture the fear, the pain, the resilience, and the longing for peace that define their experiences.

This collection is not only a testament to the suffering endured by the Yemeni people, but also a powerful reminder of the human cost of war. It is a call to action, urging us to demand an end to the conflict and to support those who have been affected by its horrors.

"Ode to Yemen" by Fatima al-Turk

Oh, Yemen, land of my ancestors, Your beauty now lies in ruins and tears.
Your children weep, their cries unheard, As war's relentless fury unfurls.

Your cities, once vibrant and proud, Now echo with the sounds of despair.
Your once-fertile fields lie barren and dry, As the conflict consumes all in its path.

But amidst the darkness, hope flickers, Like a candle in the face of the storm.
The spirit of your people remains unyielding, Their resilience a beacon of strength.

"The Mother's Lament" by Amal al-Basha

My child, my precious one, Taken from me by a cruel fate. Your tiny hands, once filled with wonder, Now lie cold and still, a tragic waste.

I search for solace in my sorrow, But find only echoes of your laughter. Your absence haunts my waking hours, A constant reminder of the horrors of war.

I will never forget your smile, Or the joy you brought into my life. May your memory live on forever, A testament to the innocence lost.

"A Refugee's Tale" by Khaled al-Yousef

I fled my home, a desperate soul, Seeking refuge from the relentless war.
My heart heavy with loss and fear, I embarked on a perilous journey afar.

Through treacherous paths and stormy seas, I wandered, a stranger in foreign lands. The weight of exile crushes my spirit, As I yearn for the touch of my homeland's sands.

But even in this distant place, My dreams are haunted by the war's embrace. I see the faces of those I left behind, Their eyes filled with pain and despair, forever etched in my mind.

"A Soldier's Prayer" by Ahmed al-Mutawakkil

In the heat of battle, where chaos reigns, I pray for guidance, for strength to endure. My comrades fall around me, their lives extinguished, As the horrors of war leave an eternal scar.

I raise my weapon, a desperate plea, To end this madness, to set my country free. But war has its own relentless grip, And peace seems like a distant, unattainable dream.

Yet, amidst the carnage and despair, I cling to hope, a flicker in the darkness. For I believe that even in war's darkest hour, The human spirit has an unyielding power.

"A Call for Peace" by Yemenis for Peace

We, the people of Yemen, have endured too long, The horrors of war, the suffering, the pain. Our land, once a thriving haven, Now lies shattered, a victim of endless strife.

We yearn for peace, a respite from the bloodshed, A chance to rebuild our lives, to heal our wounds. We call upon the world to hear our plea, To intervene and end this senseless tragedy.

Let us lay down our arms, embrace dialogue, And work together to create a brighter future. For the sake of our children, our country, and our humanity, We demand an end to the war and lasting peace in Yemen.

This collection of poems serves as a powerful reminder of the devastating human cost of the war in Yemen. It is a testament to the resilience, strength, and longing for peace that exists within the Yemeni people, even in the face of unimaginable suffering.

Let us amplify their voices, demand an end to the conflict, and support those who have been affected by this humanitarian crisis.
